

Eemu Myntti: Portrait of composer Heikki Klementti

Heikki Klementti (1876–1953), one of Finland's most prominent choir directors, was also a composer, a researcher and a critic. It is said that he carried his work forward with a stubborn and fiery attitude.

The eyes painted in the oil painting are looking intently at something. Beard and hair are relaxed and messy. What do you think, what is the emotional state of the person in the portrait?
